

IS ROOSEVELT REALLY SORRY?

Congress' Action In Shelving His Message May Result In Serious Trouble For Them.

CAN STILL WIELD THE BIG STICK

Means To Fight Out His Plan For Necessary Legislation By Exerting His Power Of Veto On Many Measures.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Washington, D. C., April 22.—President Roosevelt promises to fight as vigorously as he can to obtain the adoption by congress of certain features in his legislative program as set forth in his message as he did to obtain the authorization of additional battleships for the navy, according to the Washington Post today, and he is holding up his sleeve as a trump card his power to approve or veto the public building bill. There is not a member of congress who has not keen interest in this bill.

To Use Club

This is taken to mean that President Roosevelt will bitterly resist the action of congress in shelving his message yesterday when it was discussed by Speaker Cannon in the House by being referred to the committee on judiciary where it will never emerge from. It was the will of Speaker Cannon who arranged that the message be read late just before adjournment and then referred to this special committee.

Democrats Laugh

While the democratic members of the house sought to have the message placed on record it was shelved off and this has led to the alleged determination of President Roosevelt to force the hands of congress by using his veto power unless certain measures he has signified should be passed are taken care of at once. In this he will be backed by many of the members who have resented Cannon's control of the House.

In the Senate

The same may be said of the Senate where the message was received with a similar acceptance of any other document. Close friends of the President state that while he again reiterates his statement that he is not a candidate for re-election he is sorry now that he left the field open to other aspirants and will have an important part to play at the Chicago convention. It is even hinted he may reconsider his determination and become a candidate.

MIND UNBALANCED BY A SLUGGING

George Amborn of Mindoro is a Maniac as Result of Treatment at Hands of Rockford Foot-pads.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

La Crosse, Wis., April 22.—Becoming a raving maniac as a result of being slugged in Rockford, Ill., where he had gone to spend a vacation, is the unfortunate that befell George Amborn, aged 27, of Mindoro. The young man left home in the best of health but a few days later a message was received notifying his parents of his condition. He was found in a sanitarium there and brought back but he came so violent that it was necessary to put him in a straight jacket and commit him into Mendota at once. The Rockford police suggested the idea that he had been slugged. Amborn is the son of wealthy parents and was well supplied with money.

HUNDRED GYPSIES ON OUTSKIRTS OF CITY

Big Caravan of 25 Wagons Has Arrived—Assemblage to Apportion Territory for Year.

Over a hundred gypsies, assembled suddenly and mysteriously from no one knows where, have arrived in 25 wagons and are encamped near the Janesville Cement Plant Co.'s factory on the southern outskirts of the city. It is believed that this is the nucleus for the general assemblage of this year, during which the nomad tribe will be divided into small groups and territory will be apportioned to the little roving bands for the year.

BIG CORN SHIPMENT RECEIVED IN CITY

FRENCH PERFORMER KILLED IN "DEATH TRAP."

Berlin, April 22.—A French professor named Gadbin was killed here recently before the eyes of 5,000 people while going through a daring performance known as the "death leap," at the Circus Russe.

Gadbin's performance consisted of leaping from the roof, 100 feet in height, to an inclined, smoothly placed wooden shaft. After landing on the shaft, he slid down into a net at the bottom. The distance from the point where the leap began to the top of the inclined shaft was 60 feet, and the shaft was 40 feet in length.

A successful performance of this feat necessitated leaping so skillfully to the shaft, that the body should hit the shaft lightly and glide down the surface without severe shock. The hazardous nature of the performance was sufficiently indicated by the title given to it. Gadbin himself understood thoroughly that the least deviation from the proper course through midair would inevitably result in his death.

He dived from the roof headlong, and poised his body while shooting through the air at such an angle that he alighted on the shaft at exactly the same angle at which the shaft was inclined, thereby sliding down without further resistance.

Last night he failed to maintain this pose and struck the upper end of the shaft with his chest. He turned a somersault, and fell heavily to the ground. Death ensued shortly afterward.

The performance was immediately stopped and the horrified audience silently withdrew the building. Gadbin had performed the "death leap" 438 times without the least mishap.

MAJOR GENERAL IS RETIRED FOR AGE

Charles D. Hall, Who Saw Service in Civil War and in Philippines, Retired.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Washington, D. C., April 22.—Major General Charles D. Hall, in charge of the general staff college at Leavenworth, Kan., was retired today for age. Brig. Gen. Frederick Funston, who calls Kansas his home, has been mentioned as the probable successor of General Hall as commander of the Leavenworth school. For the present, however, the vacancy will not be permanently filled.

The army loses a veteran officer through the retirement of General Hall. A native of Maine, he served through the civil war as a lieutenant in the 25th and 30th Maine Infantry regiments. In later years he has seen service in many parts of the United States, in Cuba and the Philippines.

LEGAL FRATERNITY IN ANNUAL SESSION

Oldest and Most Famous Legal Fraternity Meets For Annual Session.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Iowa City, Ia., April 22.—The national meeting of the Phi Delta Phi fraternity began today at the State University of Iowa and will continue over tomorrow. The Phi Delta Phi is the oldest and most famous legal fraternity in the United States and has chapters in every law school of any note in the country. The attendance at the present convention is undoubtedly large as it is the first time that the national meeting has ever been held in the West.

PROCEEDINGS TO BE OF SMALL INTEREST

Pennsylvania Convention Will Merely Ratify Result of Primaries.

Harrisburg, Pa., April 22.—The republican state convention assembled in this city today under conditions new and strange to the veteran politicians of the Keystone State. The political records show that for nearly half a century the republican convention for the public. The convention floor was frequently the scene of bitter factional warfare that resulted in the making or unmaking of political bosses.

But a new order of things was ushered in with the convention which was called to order in the Majestic theatre here shortly before 11 o'clock this morning. The convention assembled to nominate a candidate for judge of the superior court, to name the presidential electors and the delegates-at-large and alternates to the national convention. But the proceedings were to be of the outlandish order in the truest sense of the phrase. The state-wide primary held three weeks ago, the first of its kind in Pennsylvania, had settled the contests and all that remained for the convention to do was to ratify the result of the primary. This was made all the easier by the fact that there has been no contest within the party over preference for the Presidential nomination. The last state convention unanimously endorsed United States Senator Knox and the present gathering will reaffirm the action of the last convention by instructing Pennsylvania's sixty-eight delegates to the Chicago convention to vote for Knox.

CHILDREN TAKE PART IN CENTENARY MASS

Six Thousand Children From Parochial Schools Sing in Choir.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

New York, April 22.—One of the most remarkable and attractive features in the centennial celebration of the Catholic diocese of New York took place in St. Patrick's Cathedral this morning, when six thousand pupils, representing the seventy-three parochial schools of Manhattan and the Bronx, took part in the centenary mass. The children were so numerous that little room was left in the spacious edifice for the throngs of grown-ups who sought admission.

The musical programme was pronounced one of the finest ever heard in the Cathedral, where in years gone by some of the most celebrated singers of the world have lifted up their voices. For many weeks the children had been in rehearsal under the direction of the Rev. Father Young, S. J., who is recognized as the highest authority in Gregorian music in this country. The three-song feature of the children's mass was the special hymn, "Hail to the Father," "Gloria, Gloria, Gloria" and "Holy God, We Praise Thee."

Another interesting feature of the week's celebration will be the great mass meeting in Carnegie Hall tonight at which ex-Judge O'Brien will preside. Cardinal Logue and Archbishop Farley will be the ecclesiastical speakers, while John J. Delany, Dr. James J. Walsh, and Congressman W. Bourke Cockran will be the lay orators.

VERMONT DELEGATES WILL NOT BE BOUND

Sentiment is About Equally Divided Between Taft and Hughes Men.

Burlington, Vt., April 22.—Vermont will send an uninstructed delegation to the Chicago republican convention. This was the sentiment that seemed to prevail among a large majority of the delegates to the state convention, which was called to order shortly before two o'clock this afternoon.

During the past few months much active work has been done in Vermont by both the Taft and Hughes forces, and the sentiment among Vermont republicans appears to be about equally divided between the two candidates. Because of its proximity to New York, Vermont has displayed a little more ardor in taking up the Hughes boom than has any other of the New England States. But there appears to be not the slightest probability of the delegates being instructed for either candidate. It has been Vermont's custom for years to send an uninstructed delegation and the delegates declare they see no reason for violating the custom this year.

Taft enjoys a greater measure of popularity among the masses than does any other candidate. He would stand a better chance of capturing the Vermont delegation, however, if it were not for the sentiment expressed by Governor Proctor. The politics of Vermont are controlled by the Proctor family, of which the late Senator Redfield Proctor was the head. His son, Governor Proctor, is credited with sincere friendship for Hughes, which had its origin during their early youth. They attended the same college and belong to the same fraternity. Governor Proctor regards Taft as the Roosevelt candidate and he is not a very warm admirer of the President. Consequently, it is expected that unless it should appear that Taft is sweeping everything before him, Vermont will cast its eight votes on the first ballot to Hughes.

FOUR CONFESSIONS; THEN DENIES THEM

Chippewa Falls Man Arrested For Arson Now Denies His Former Tales.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Chippewa Falls, Wis., April 22.—After making four confessions that he was guilty of committing arson and then repudiating them and pleading not guilty, William Ferg has been acquitted by a jury in the circuit court at Wausau, after a long trial. Last September four barns were burned at Wausau, the value of the property destroyed being about $4,000. William Ferg was charged with setting the fire and made four confessions, in all of which he acknowledged he was guilty. One of these confessions was made to the people whose property was burned, the second to the district attorney, the third to the state fire warden and the fourth to the sheriff. When the case was called, however, he entered a plea of not guilty.

Cook vs. Philip Welch; the attachment action of Julia R. Knapp vs. R. H. Wheat and A. M. Hendler; and the matter of the mortgage of Warren Andrew and Alma S. Andrew to Harriet Townsend.

The trespass case of August Welberg vs. John T. Naugle and the plaintiff's motion to have the verdict set aside and a new trial granted in the case of C. S. Jackson, trustee, vs. J. E. Imann, were taken under advisement. In the divorce case of Anna Newman vs. Gustav Newman, the defendant was directed to show cause on May 9 why he should not pay temporary alimony and attorney's fees while the action is pending.

In county court this afternoon arguments are being made by Nolan, Adams & Reeder and Rod, McGowan & Fisher in the Matthews guardianship case.

AMENDMENT MAY BE SEVERELY CENSURED

State Law Relative to Changing the School Age of Children Is Questionable.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Beloit, Wis., April 22.—Mrs. E. A. Emerson, president of the First Congregational district association of federated women's clubs stated today that at the state meeting to be held at Racine tomorrow the question of the state law which changes the school age of children from four to six years would be brought up for discussion. According to Mrs. Emerson the law if put in force will cut out the kindergarten for the younger children as the average age for the attendance is four to five years. It is thought that radical resolutions condemning the law will be passed by the association.

Narrow Escape.

The three-year-old daughter of George R. Collie, of Beloit college, narrowly missed death when she pulled a heavy plate glass mirror over onto herself. The child escaped with a few scratches.

Reutensdorff lives with his sister at 1012 Lloyd street. Only twelve days ago he was arrested on a charge of having threatened to kill his wife. At the present time there is a suit pending against him for divorce.

WILLIAM BRUCE HAS GUBERNATORIAL BEE

Milwaukee Man Would Be Named as Democratic Standard Bearer This Year.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Milwaukee, Wis., April 22.—A Daily News special from Madison, Wis., says William George Bruce, present secretary of the Merchants & Manufacturers' association in Milwaukee, evidently still retains a political bias despite his defeat for the democratic mayoralty nomination in Milwaukee in March, 1904. As a result of this bee Mr. Bruce's friends have been looking over the democratic gubernatorial situation with an idea of becoming a candidate for that nomination. It is hardly possible William George Bruce has no knowledge of what is going on in his behalf, but that is not the usual thing in his case, especially in his political ambition. That he will so declare goes almost without saying.

MERE MEN WERE

FOR FOUR STRAIGHT HOURS
LAST EVENING.

SOCIAL UNION CLUB BANQUET

And Entertainment Were Entirely in the Hands of the Ladies and as Usual They Eclipsed All Previous Efforts.

"More Men" was parodied and grilled to a turn at the annual Ladies' Night session of the Social Union club last evening. The program was entirely in the hands of the gentler sex and they not only made the so-called "ladies of creation" look like a batch of underdone muffins, but also provided an entertainment of four hours' duration which in brilliancy and interest eclipsed all previous efforts of either sex in this locality. The Y.
M. C. A. auditorium was the scene of the gathering and the Janesville Symphony orchestra, led by Miss Ellen Crandall of Milton, played a lively march as the 250 guests filed in at half-past six o'clock and took their seats at the long tables, illuminated with festal electric, banquet lamps and ranging in long white flowers, north and south. A score of young ladies served the sumptuous repast under the direction of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Y. M. C. A. When it was over, Charles H. Hemmingsway, who with John Gollner, E. J. Hannerson, J. H. Jones and P. H. Kest, had made the preliminary arrangements, acted as announcer for what he was pleased to term "the big show." "Home," he said, "had its coliseum; Germany, its old Hakenbeck; New York, its Hippodrome; Wisconsin, its Ringling Bros.; Janesville, its Nonesuch Bros.; and the Social Union club, its Ladies' Night." Without further ado he introduced Miss Elizabeth Stoddard, the toast-mistress, as the feminine Al. Ringling of America who would exhibit in her own unique manner her peerless trained menagerie.

Incomparable Toastmistress

All postmasters of the art of presiding over Social Union club post-prandial discussions were easily distanced by Miss Stoddard. Recon-fident, perfectly self-possessed, and with a whole repertoire of breezy anecdotes at her command, she directed the line of attack with the skill, finesse, and unfailing good humor of a born general. Original research and laboratory work with the specimens of that charming subject, Man, reminded her at the outset of some amusing college studies. One of the things she wondered in her mind was why "Shakespeare's plays"—called up the doggerel:

"You may compile the brains of a Bacon
With the enterprise of a bee; but you Can't hold a job in the public schools
If your trousers lag at the knee."

Two rules, she said, had been laid down for the discussion: (1) The speakers were not going to talk on their own subjects if they could find anything else in the wide universe to talk about. (2) If any of them had choice bits of rhetoric, or pet anecdotes from a husband's sermon, paragraphs from a brother's oration they might as well use them when cornered as when uncornered. In doing these things they would have a glorious precedent.
The club's 1907 toastmaster—a man (Supt. H. C. Bell)—had cast his instructive remarks into verse and his own proud of a particular poem, announcing a young lady who was to speak but found herself at the last moment unable to be present, that he insisted on giving it anyway. The royal character of the repast and the appointments reminded her of the story of Marguerite and the baked beans which were expected to sit on one another's laps, and with this she announced Miss Teresa Baker who was to speak on "Man As A Host."

Let's Women Do the Work

Miss Baker refused to experience any feeling of surprise or astonishment that she had been called upon to speak—the inevitable evening presence of male speakers. Women's innate love of truth made such unfairness and sham impossible. Her self-satisfying nature of necessity made her attitude toward men one of pure found pity—so much is expected of him and he does so little. In a moment of self-righteousness, she kindly advised the debt he owes her and arrives in agony to find some way in which he can offer what may in the slightest degree be regarded as compensation. At last he has it—Food her, of course! She will cook the food. And when the banquet is over she will do the entertaining, and with Easter clothes and other topics worth while as a subject for discussion—but only this. This is the one topic of which he never tires. In conclusion, the speaker did not wish to criticize but had only spoken in a kindly spirit for the men's best good.
Although they knew nothing of the feelings of a hostess, by more frequent practice (than once a year) they might improve. "Now that you've shown him it is so, we'll even let him hold the reins—but we'll show him the way to go."

Handsome Souvenir Programs

At this juncture the Janesville Symphony orchestra gave a splendid impression of Suppe's "Foot and Puppet." and responded to an enthusiastic ensemble. Beautiful 12-page souvenir programs, with beautiful colored plates in color of various types of womanhood adorning the heavy covers, had, in the meantime, been distributed among the ladies. Each speaker had been assigned a page and besides the sentiment in verse which followed her subject, there was an appropriate drawing to further carry out the idea to be expressed. The drawings were after some of Charles Dana Gil-son's studies and were chosen and reproduced by the Misses Josephine Treat and Dell Mithmore. "The Ideal Man" for instance, was represented as an infant on a sofa, and the "Putnam State" presented him as a dumpy, unlovely sort of a creature of possible countenance and mustache. The printing was in bronzes and was from the Gar-zette press.

"Man in Untamed State"

At this stage of the proceedings the toastmistress introduced a variation from the general onslaught and proved herself fair-minded and just by "telling one" on her own sex.

While admitting that "Man in His Putnam State" seemed the epitome of his whole history from the cradle to the grave, she told the story of the touring car and the load of hay to show that woman, too, in certain individual instances may come under the classification. The load of hay came around a bend of the road and "hubbly" who was driving the car, wanted to back out of the way. The wife refused to listen to such a proposition, insisting that the hay-pilot ought to have seen them coming. After the altercation had been in progress for some time the man with the load said resignedly: "That's all right. I'll try to back out. I've got one just like her at home." (TIGER RIFIC APPLAUSE). Though Miss Alicia Cithereau smiled and lightly dismissed the incident, "that was just a badinage. There were two of them crawling down my back this morning."

Girls' Quartette—"The Ideal"

The Girls' Quartette, composed of the Misses Daisy MacLean, Violet Griebel, Edna Hudson, and Violet Dreyer, with Miss Vera Lynda as ac-compañist, delighted their hearers with a song entitled "Twilight Revel."
In introducing the subject "Man the Ideal," the mistresses of ceremonies remarked that while all sorts of qualities were insisted upon by different women, they all agreed on but one—that he be good-natured. Miss Amy Woodruff opened her discourse with a beautiful reading of Burns' "A Man's Man for A' That," and taking "the rank is but the guinea stamp" as a text, delivered an endowed plan for refinement, high purposes, and usefulness. In every-day life she found a crying need for the complete man who develops himself spiritually, intellectually, and physically—who uses his God-given powers for the greatest number. If his ability enables his efforts no farther than the family, he has done well in remembering that his duty is not finished when he has merely provided for their material wants. The germ of the ideal man is never extinguished in his soul and every day he has his chance.

Is He Worth While?

After departing from the true meaning of the word "Man" and trying to learn from the experience of others what he was good for, Mrs.
J. W. Laughlin received replies from the women that "he was good for the cash." Most of the men answered: "Yes—himself good for nothing, most of 'em." Finally she invited her husband's study. He turned to her with a look answered by years of investigation in biology, zoology, and sociology. She thought to herself, with pride, "Man is surely good to lean on." His brows were wrinkled and she could not help feeling with pride that he looked much better than Socrates. Then he exclaimed in modest tones: "You may search me! I am a man from Browning which she thought, but she liked neither which alluded to man's high aims and his possibilities. The Good Book in one place stated that God made man little lower than the angels but another bible authority, equally ancient, had said: "God repented Him that He had made man." Some of the men were loved more or less and if they were of little use for learning purposes, it was good just to have them around.

Miss Arkin Sang

Miss LaVerne Arkin of Beloit, who is gifted with a wonderful contralto voice, sang "The Ideal Man." "The Two Women" and "The Ideal Man."
"The Ideal Man" was a beautiful song by the Girls' quartette was the closing musical number. The toast-mistress, following her prerogative of calling on anyone present, as set forth in the society program, summoned Charles Hemmingsway to recant. The latter said that never, in his experience, had the Ladies' Home Journal been so thoroughly neglected in the preparation of a program by women.
He had always wanted to be a Man-man, but his efforts in trying to get the speakers for the evening had caused such a thought to vanish forever.

Songs—"In Captivity"

Miss Josephine Treat charmed every listener with her rendition of "Love's Springtime" by Hammond and
"The Lullaby" by Carlo Jacobs Bond, to the piano accompaniment of Miss Treat, but only bowed acknowledgments to the chorus for an ensemble. The toastmistress continued again to the classics in introducing the next speaker:

"I never loved a young gazelle
Did stricken soon and died;
I never loved a man right well
But wife smothered at his side."

Mrs. C. V. Kersch couldn't imagine why she had been chosen to speak with authority on this subject of "In Captivity" unless it was because of the wild and ferocious keenness she had captured and domesticated. The large representation of the uneducated in the audience contained many who had been exposed so long that they might be said to be human. They would find, however, that like masculine marriage grew harder the later the wedlock grew. Among the widows who were the most and are earliest converted, the suggestion came to her that wet weather was best for trans-planting. The anecdote of the woman who got by St. Peter on certificate that while she had no other claim, she had been married 20 years, and the yarn about the Irishman who, when asked by the court if he had no visible means of support, thus addressed his wife: "Stand up, Biddy, so the Judge kin see you!"
were related and the speaker gravely reminded that while women still believed in love at first sight, they had learned to take a second look. The man who stands firm among men but whose wife knows that his backbone is of the Good-year variety, the home-less man, the lodge-gang exploded, and other interesting phases of the subject were discussed. In conclusion, she pledged the wealth of the "Gospel" to the husbands, the presence and the unity, the engaged the four walls of a home—"our willing victims—God bless them!"

"Men I Have Known"

After trying conscientiously to deviate five minutes a day to the subject, Miss Abbie Atwood had decided to follow the Thompson-Simon method and confine her attention closely to a few. She offered the samples at auction—a rare old antique, three Social Union club lawyers, one of whom was represented as telling a prospective client that he expected to be paid for his knowledge and revealing the rejoinder: "There's fifty cents—tell me all you know and give me the change"—four audacious bankers, professors, newspapermen, dentists, and so forth. She thought the den-dards were good investments because one who speaks all his working hours hurting people's feelings, must have to change between-times if only for relaxation. That reminded her of an incident in her school-room. She saw a little boy strike a little girl sitting in front of him. When the boy was accused of wicked intent, he exclaimed, "Oh no, teacher!" In tones of injured innocence and explained that he had tried to tell an insect that he had seen on the little girl's back.

The little girl was much relieved to learn that he had meant no harm and with a radiant smile said lightly to dismiss the incident, "That was just a badinage. There were two of them crawling down my back this morning."

EVANGELIST TALKS

AT SALVATION ARMY

Home Missionary in the City at the Salvation Army Hall

Tonight.

L. Schmidt, home missionary, a converted Roman Catholic, who accepted Christ and Bible truth and the Gospel, is here in Janesville and will speak for several evenings in the Salvation Army Hall, No. 8 Milwaukee St., at 7 o'clock evenings. Mr. Schmidt will preach on Gospel, Health and Temperance as found in Revelation 14:6-10, Matthew 19:7-12, Acts 2:38-47, 1
Thess. 11:1-14, John 14:15; 1 Thess.
4:16, 17. He will give Bible reasons why he is not a Catholic any more as all can read in Exodus 20:4, Matthew 23:9, 1 John 1:9, Dan. 7:25, Rev.
13:18. The evangelist says the Bible alone contains the gospel of salvation from Genesis to Revelation; Jesus and His Apostles never read a mass, they never sat at confession, there is not one word about Purgatory in the Bible, not a line or verse that Peter was the first Pope, nor is there a mention of Cardinals among the church of Christ. The Missionary says he preaches all things in the Bible as we read in Matthew 28:20. All doctrines not in record in the Word of God are false, no matter how well they are presented or how many believe and follow them. Mr. Schmidt is of German education, he speaks several languages, he is 40 years old, he became a Bible Protestant 10 years ago and began home missionary work in Pennsylvania and traveled through that state and New York, Ohio and Illinois, he labored for some time in Chicago. Last winter he came to this state and began to lecture in Williams Bay, Portage, Walworth, Milton, Juncton, Alton, Indian Ford and nearby towns. The evangelist is well recommended from all the places where he has labored. He takes up no collections, works for no salary, but depends on voluntary contributions from persons who are glad to assist him in effecting the Gospel of the Bible. He has good references as a self-supporting home missionary. Some newspapers publish reviews of his lectures and work in many cities of his successful preaching. Mr. Schmidt answers any Bible question at the lectures. He says he is not in this world to argue and dispute, but to call the attention of the people to worship God in spirit and truth, and not according to man's doctrines or sectarianism. He speaks in any church wherever invited to do so, free. The evangelist will preach on some of the following topics:
"What Will God do with the Wicked?" Mal. 4:1-6, Obadiah 15, 16, "Have We a Right to Eat Pork?" Leviticus 11:7, Dan. 1:5-20, "What Does This Mean?" John 13:1, Cor. 11, "How Long Will We Stay in Heaven if Saved?" Rev.
20:1, "How Large Is Our Future Home?" Rev. 21, Matt. 5:5, Isa. 65: 21-25, Zech. 14, "Do the Dead Sleep, and when they rise?" John 11, 12, 13, 9, "Why do Many Denominate themselves Protestants?" Rev. 12:17 and Revelation 19:11-19, "Will Jesus Come in This Generation?" Matt. 24, Ezra 6 and 7, Dan. 8 and 9, 1 Thess.
5:1-20. The Missionary has a large experience and makes his lectures most interesting by illustrating them.
His little boy Paul is with him at this time, and sings for the children and tells Bible stories concerning our future Paradise home. Mr. Schmidt and Paul will sing, "The Silver Cord" and "Where is My Wandering Boy?" and other songs tonight. The Evangelist was a successful business man in New York City earning from $25 to $100 a day. He gave it all up for Christ to preach the Gospel. These lectures are all free according to Revelation 22:17 and all men who drink and use tobacco ought to hear Mr.
Schmidt tonight speak on Isa. 1 and 35, and Acts 2:38-47, at the Salvation Army Hall. All are welcome.

HAS FINISHED A PLAY

It is Entitled "A Woman of the West" and Will be Present at the Dush Temple Chicago Next Week.

Father Vaughan, the great orator of Lyons, France, now a resident of Janesville, presents his great drama,
"A Woman of the West" to the public for the first time in the Dush Temple Theatre, Chicago, Monday, May 11th and continuing for the remainder of the week.

Anna Mack Berlin, one of New York's stars and who has just returned from a world's tour with the Andrew Mack company, will play the title role, Nature's Daughter from whom the play takes its name.

The play is one of the greatest science productions ever produced in Chicago. Each act sparkles with comedy and pathos; and after the final curtain, one has impressed indeedly upon one's mind a lesson that tends to elevation.

Monday evening's performance will be the opening, and a number of Janesville people are planning to attend.

Fine Skaters in Austria.

It is said that Austria has produced more fine skaters than any other country.

Weak Kidneys

Weak Kidneys, surely point to weak kidney nerves. The kidneys are the great stomach, and their weakness, not in the organ itself, but in the nerves that control and guide and stimulate them. Dr. Shoop's Kidney medicine is specifically prepared to reach these controlling nerves. To doctor the Kidneys alone, is futile. It is a waste of time, and of money as well.

If your back aches or is weak, if the urine is cloudy, or if you have any of the symptoms of Bright's or other distressing or dangerous kidney disease, try Dr. Shoop's Kidney medicine a month—Tablets or Liquid—and see what it can and will do for you. Druggists recommend and sell.

DR. BEATON'S TALKS

Lectures at the Congregational Church Well Attended by the Public.

Dr. David Beaton, who is giving a series of lectures and addresses on Moral and Religious Education at the Congregational church, continued his work yesterday afternoon and evening to greatly increased audiences.
In the afternoon he spoke of the education of the infant child, from birth to six years of age. During that period the brain and nervous system are extremely sensitive to impressions.
The feelings come first in the mental evolution of the child, later the power of choice is exercised. The great importance of education during infancy is therefore to so train the child to love the right things that he will automatically choose and do them. In the evening Dr. Beaton spoke of the literary and educational value of the Bible. Defining literature with Matthew Arnold, as a great theme, nobly expressed, in abstract, the highest education is training for practical life.
Education is shown by illustration how the Bible might be used as a most efficient instrument for impressing practical and patriotic truths on young people. Dr. Beaton's quiet Saveth humankind the seriousness and illumination his great themes. He speaks again this afternoon at 4:15 and this evening at 7:15. Tonight's subject, Motherhood and the Home, and tomorrow night's "Fatherhood and Citizenship" are of especial interest.

INTERURBAN CARS CRASH; NINE DEAD

COLLISION ON THE DETROIT ROAD NEAR YPSILANTI.

THIRTY PERSONS INJURED

Limited and Local Coaches Running at High Speed Meet Head-On—Dead Motorman Blamed.

Detroit, Mich., Apr. 29.—Two large interurban trolley cars on the Detroit, Jackson & Chicago railway, a part of the Detroit United railway system, collided head-on Tuesday afternoon while running about 45 miles an hour, 25 miles west of here, near Ypsilanti. Nine men were killed and about 20 men and women injured, some of them seriously.

A mistake in orders on the part of Motorman Isa Fay of the limited car, who was crushed to death beneath his vestibule, is alleged to have caused the collision. It is charged that he overran his orders. His home was at Jackson, Mich.

The dead are: Motorman Isa Fay, Jackson; John Paget, Detroit; Charles Carmen, Detroit; George E. Howard, Detroit; Jack McMillan, Syracuse, N. Y.; Garbino Grimaldi, Detroit; three unidentified men.

Mistake of the Motorman.

The limited car, comfortably filled with 40 people, left Ypsilanti at 2:17 o'clock for Detroit. The running time of the car was changed Tuesday and reduced, so that Motorman Fay left Ypsilanti ten minutes earlier than he had been accustomed to. This is thought by some to have been responsible for his mistake. Instead of stopping at Harris' switch, about two miles west of the scene of the accident where it is said by the officials of the road, the cars should have passed, the limited rushed by the crossing point at high speed. As it rounded a curve four miles east of Ypsilanti, the local car dashed into view also running at high speed.

It was a hopeless effort to try and stop the heavy cars, and they crashed together with terrible impact. Motorman Wingrave of the local car jumped when he saw that the collision was inevitable, but Fay stuck to his vestibule.

Limited Car Is Telescoped.

The local car was built considerably higher than the limited, so that as they met its body rode up over the heavy flooring and iron work of the limited and telescoped it for nearly 30 feet. Despite the terrible force of the collision, the wrecked limited stayed on the rails, with the local car crushed into its forward end for half the length. There were screams of fright from the limited's passengers as they saw the local car loom before them and then they were silenced in the crash. Then the injured and slightly wounded passengers crawled from the wreck, and after a few dazed moments began the work of rescuing those who were pinned down under the local car.

Denies Excessive Profits.

Admiral Dowles Testifies for Electric Boat Company.

Washington, Apr. 29.—One of the main charges of Representative George L. Lilley of Connecticut against the Electric Boat company, namely that that company has received excessive profits on its contracts with the United States government, was flatly denied Tuesday by Admiral Francis T. Dowles, formerly chief of the bureau of construction of the navy department and now president of the Ford River Shipbuilding company, which is building the boats for the Electric Boat company.

Admiral Dowles stated that the Octopus, the last submarine boat built for the government, but which has not yet been accepted, will cost the Electric Boat company for construction alone $255,000. This figure does not include royalties or the general expenses of the Electric company and he thought that the total cost of the boat would exceed the contract price of $250,000.

Powder Explosion Kills Three.

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

President Roosevelt sent a message to congress on matters of national importance on Monday last. It was not a tirade, was not a lecture to the members of this dilatory body, but a gentle reminder of what they were assembled for—to make laws for the best interests of the nation. What was the result? It was tabled by the chairman of the house of representatives with as much rapidity as would a pot measure of a democratic statesman have been shelved. Referred to a committee from which it will never see the light of day. This may be politics according to the congressman's idea, while in Washington, but many will find it hard to convince their constituents of the fact when they arrive home seeking reelection. President Roosevelt may be hasty in many of his actions, but as President of the United States he deserves respect and should receive it. Congress will have much to answer for when it adjourns and among the articles in the complaint will be disrespect for the nation's chief executive.

Taft's Boom Gaining

Day by day conventions are being held to name delegates for the national republican convention in Chicago in June. Thus far the country appears to have accorded Secretary of War Taft the plum in the majority of the states, thus far naming their delegates. Fairbanks, Cannon, Hughes, Knox and even La Follette have not thus far demonstrated enough strength to be really considered in the running. However, time will tell and there is many a slip between the nomination now and in June. However, in naming Taft as their choice the different states have voiced public sentiment as it has seldom been voiced in a pre-convention campaign before. The big Ohioan's chances for nomination are brighter now than ever before. He will with all probability be nominated on the first ballot and then the fun will all be over except the campaign proper, which promises to be a warm one. With Bryan and Johnson fighting for the democratic plum it is a question if there will not be a bolt if one or the other is nominated, which means that the poor democratic donkey is again in the mire.

NOT IMPOSSIBLE

John M. Olin, President of the Madison Park and Pleasure Drive association, an association similar to that recently organized in Janesville, in his annual report to his own organization, speaks of the possibility of waterway communication between Janesville and Madison by way of the Yahara and Rock rivers. Such a thing is not an impossibility and nowhere on the whole journey can more beautiful scenery be found than in the Rock river itself. Its gorge, its winding course between Indian Ford and the city, are beautiful. Janesville people fail to appreciate its beauties because they are right at their doors. In the rush for wealth too many forget nature and the charms it holds to all. The ancient Greeks believed nature the mother of mankind and many a parable is wrought by the love of these olden people for Mother Earth. The river to be appreciated must be visited, its banks explored and its stream followed. A waterway from Janesville is still only a possibility, but could be made a reality with the support of citizens generally.

JANESVILLE BEAUTIFUL

Now is the time to plan for the Janesville beautiful for the coming summer. Interest in automobilism is going to bring hundreds to the city for their holidays from the cities and surrounding towns. It means that they will enjoy their visit to Janesville much more if the lawns are kept well cut, the trees trimmed and the shrubs and flowers carefully planted and cared for. Nothing denotes prosperity so much as does the personal appearance of the homes of its citizens. Janesville is an ideal spot for a home and with a little attention to details can be made one of the beauty spots of the state. The Janesville Park and Pleasure Drive association have this in view and a hearty support of their work and plans should be given.

CLEAN CITY

Janesville has been exceptionally fortunate in respect to contagious disease this past year. In view of the fact that there has been so little danger from this source it is well to keep up the vigilance and not drop it. In Dr. Waite, Janesville has a city health officer who will be alive to the responsibilities of the office. In his department comes the ordering of the cleaning of the filthy alleys that are to be found in all portions of the city. But he should not confine himself to the downtown alleys alone. Private lot-owners are often as negligent as the residents of the crowded portions of the city as to the cleaning up of the winter accumulation of ashes and refuse. Disease germs delight to find filth and dirt and the only way to drive the disease away is to eradicate the germs and a general spring cleaning should follow.

Just think of it. Wisconsin's latest form of advertisement is that of being the home of the gubernatorial candidate who seeks the office by means of a balloon. Lots of men have sought offices and gone up in the balloon afterwards, but none took the balloon as the first lesson in the art of becoming a statesman.

Cleveland had a celebration yesterday when the great struggle for a three-cent fare was brought to a finish with the company winning out at last. To celebrate its victory it gave everyone in Cleveland who wanted a ride free yesterday and from all reports everyone who ever rode on a car took advantage of it.

The Janesville city council stands five republicans and five democrats with the deciding vote in the hands of a republican mayor, yet if party politics counted for anything the democrats could rightly claim control of the city. They have the pick of the committees and the chairmanship of the most important in their group.

Chicago has gone baseball mad again. There is also an epidemic of "bugle" in Janesville among the men who eagerly watch for the latest news from the seat of war and comment on the results of the games. As a national sport, baseball is on the gain rather than the wane.

Cooper is to have opposition in his own county for the renomination for congress in the person of Sheriff Roberts. The announcement will come as a surprise to many who have been led to believe that Racine county was solidly for their representative.

That famous English authoress of passion who is visiting this country for the first time on an advertising tour for her book, "Three Weeks," which should be consigned to the furnace in lieu of coal, brought her nerve with her.

How funny it is that nobody has appeared for the republican nomination for vice president? The job really is as good as that of any senatorship with a possibility of becoming president sometime in the near future.

This idea of leaving all the purchasing power of necessities for the crusher plant in the hands of one man is bad policy. It gives too much power to the individual and not enough restriction.

This lance-throwing harpoon stage of the common council proceedings promises to keep up through the life of the present council as the lance throwers and injured innocence crowd are in control.

Chicago now talks of plans for a giant subway that is to go under all the city and do away with the dangers of surface travel. After they get the subway they will have other troubles just as well.

Snowstorms in the latter part of April do not seem quite in line with the idea of spring, but if we must have snow before it is warm weather then let us have it now and be done with it.

Congress does not act like a person who has recently had its salary raised for meritorious conduct.

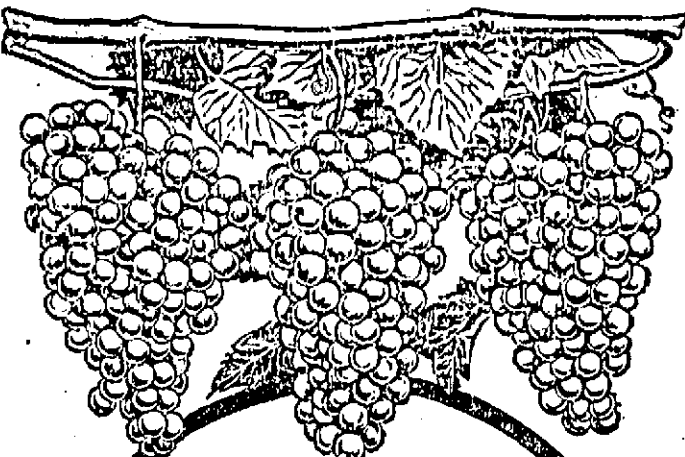

That Washington rest cure for statesmen is becoming more than a fad with many a representative.

GIVEN A SENTENCE OF $100 AND COSTS FOR PETTY LARCENY

John Leroy Jones Was Fined This Morning in Municipal Court For Stealing Coat.

In the municipal court this morning John L. Jones of Freeport pleaded guilty to the charge of stealing a woman's cloak last night from Clerk Clark of the Park hotel and was fined $100 and costs.

The cloak was purchased yesterday afternoon from the Archie Reid & Co. store and had been delivered at the hotel. It was left lying on the clerk's desk in the box in which it had been delivered. Jones and a bell boy were left alone in the office for a short time about five o'clock. The bell boy was sent out by Jones on an errand and he proceeded to open the box, take out the cloak and then to up the box again.

He hid the cloak in a nearby room and later wrapped it up and took it away. Mr. Clark did not discover the theft until some time after when he opened the box and even then thinking that some one had taken the garment out and hid it as a joke, he did not report the matter to the police until nearly eleven o'clock.

Officer Sam Brown was detailed on the case and as Jones had been in the office alone at the time suspicion fell upon him and he was taken into custody. He denied that he had stolen it, but said that his partner had and that he would be found culling on Miss Margaret Haynes on South River street. The man whose name was O. J. Wescott of Dubuque, Iowa, was arrested but denied all knowledge of the theft. Jones was again examined and then confessed that he had committed the crime and told how he had done it. The cloak was found in the woman's closet.

The Haynes woman, Wescott and Jones were all locked up and this morning were brought up in court. Miss Haynes was turned out today and left for her home in Freeport and Wescott also left the city as soon as he was freed.

When arrested Jones had forty-seven dollars in money on him and when sentence was given, asked that he be given a little time to raise the money on two diamond rings which he had. If he fails in this he will have to spend six months in jail, having been given the maximum sentence.

Wescott, Jones and the Haynes woman have been in the city for about two weeks. The two men have been living at the Park hotel and passing themselves off as traveling men. The, however, have been doing nothing since they have been here. Both were young men between the ages of twenty-five and thirty years.

W. W. DALE, President, JANESVILLE, WIS.

FORTY YEARS AGO

Janesville Gazette, April 29, 1868.—A Bold Thief—Yesterday afternoon about 4 o'clock, a young scoundrel, posing Mrs. E. Valentine at work in her garden, entered the house by one of the windows and ransacked the bureau and closets thoroughly. He had selected some silk dresses and other clothing, and was ready to leave when Mrs. Valentine entered the house. Being so suddenly confronted he dropped his plunder and left, running north on bluff street. Mrs. V. was unable to find any one in time to pursue him. Our citizens will do well to keep a sharp lookout for such rascals.

Another Improvement in Prospect—We learn that Mr. S. L. James has purchased the brick building on the southwest corner of Court and Main streets, formerly occupied by Mr. Strong as a tin shop. He intends to build a large factory in the rear of the old building, and manufacture all kinds of carriages, buggies and wagons. If he carries out his intention it will add another valuable resource to the productive industry of Janesville.

Janesville As a Market—While on the street yesterday we procured several subscribers for the weekly Gazette, a part of them residents of Walworth county. One man residing near Delavan said they were getting from ten to fifteen cents more per bushel for wheat in Janesville than in Delavan. He said large quantities of wheat between Whiteside and Delavan in Walworth city were being loaded to this city. Our millers and dealers will take all that comes this way at prices that will pay the farmers to raise it.

Washington, April 28.—Mr. Williams took about an hour and a half in the conclusion of his speech, the latter portion of which is considered very conclusive.

After Mr. Williams had concluded, there was a short passage at arms between Manager Butler and counsel Nelson over the latter's remark about the former's connection with the Alta Vista case. Mr. Butler, in sharp pointed language, too much in earnest to be mistaken, branded these statements as falsehoods.

Mr. Butler then took the floor and spoke for about two hours. A large number of spectators were present, called there by Mr. Butler's reputation. It is not known definitely yet, whether Mr. Stansbury will deliver his remarks, or merely file them.

Ardmore, Okla., Apr. 29.—Attorney General Charles West Tuesday filed an injunction suit in the district court of Carter county against 16 railroads and express companies in the state to restrain them from carrying liquor shipments into that section of the state formerly known as the Indian territory. The suit is based upon an agreement between the railroads and the federal government, made prior to statehood, when the railroads and express companies agreed not to bring liquor into the Indian country.

TASTES LIKE CANDY THOUGH CURES YOU OF INDIGESTION

Diapiesin will make you eat and then digest every bite for you, leaving nothing to ferment and sour.

Of course, if you insist upon waiting until you have tried all the so-called digestive tablets, Bitters, cure-alls, etc., before you really make up your mind to get rid of your stomach trouble, there is nothing to hinder you. But listen!

You haven't Catarrh of the Stomach, or Nervousness, or Constipation, or Cancer, etc. Prove this by taking one 22-grain Triangular Diapiesin after your very next meal. Convince your self within five minutes that your actual disease was sour, acid stomach—Food fermentation—that every bite you ate turned to Stomach gas, Stomach poison and Acid, which makes you feel sick and miserable, producing such symptoms as pain in the pit of the stomach, difficulty in breathing after a meal, Headaches, Belching, Heartburn, Nauseous breath, Water brash, Bloatingness, Sour eructs, Gas on Stomach and many other bad feelings.

Indigestion is a result, not a cause, of your misery. If the Stomach is sour, your food becomes tainted, and that's why you have these stomach disorders.

Ask your pharmacist to show you the formula plainly printed on the case of Diapiesin, which costs only 50 cents anywhere in this city. Read what this effective stomach and digestive treatment contains, and how absolutely harmless it must be; how it does for the Stomach what the washing and sun bath do for the skin; absolutely removes every corrupting or tainting element, and will digest for you 3,000 grains of any kind of food.

Get a case of Diapiesin now, then eat anything you want at your next meal, and you will not suffer from indigestion or Stomach trouble. Each bite of food will taste good, and, besides, you will not need liver regulators to keep your intestines and Stomach clean and fresh.

Now and forever rid yourself of the misery of Indigestion and Stomach trouble. Make your meals a pleasure by going to the table with a healthy appetite.

BLOOD POISON

TREACHEROUS-DANGEROUS

Contagious Blood Poison is the most treacherous of all diseases. It has its victims in its power almost before they realize its presence; because its first symptom, which is usually a little sore or pimple, is so insignificant that it does not cause alarm, or even excite suspicion. But notwithstanding the outward symptoms are not manifested in the beginning, this insidious poison is at work on the blood, and in a short time the patients find themselves diseased from head to foot.

The mouth and throat ulcerate, the hair begins to come out, a rash breaks out on the body, copper-colored spots, and even sores and ulcers appear on the flesh. Unless the poison is driven from the blood it affects the bones, and literally eats out the life of the sufferer.

There is scarcely any limit to the evil powers of Contagious Blood Poison. It is often transmitted to others by a friendly handshake or from the use of the toilet articles of an infected person. And if the virus is allowed to remain in the circulation, its blighting influence will be handed down to offspring to ruin their innocent lives.

Contagious Blood Poison is too dangerous to trifle with. No time should be lost in ridding the blood of this insidious poison; and in no disease is it more important that the proper remedy be used. Medicines which merely check the symptoms for a time and leave the real cause smoldering in the system, have brought misery and despair to thousands. Faithfully the sufferers took such treatment, and when all outward signs had disappeared left off its use, only to find that the virus had been shut up in the blood, awaiting a favorable opportunity to break out again.

S. S. S. goes down into the circulation, and removes every particle of the poison from the blood, makes this vital fluid pure and healthy, and does not leave the slightest trace of the poison for future outbreaks.

S. S. S. is made entirely of roots and herbs of the forests and fields. It does not contain the least particle of mineral in any form to injure the delicate parts of the system, impair the digestion or corrode and irritate the membranous tissue or lining of the stomach and bowels.

If you are suffering with Contagious Blood Poison, S. S. S. will cure you, because it will purify your blood, and destroy every vestige of the taint. It will act as the finest of tonics to build up and strengthen your system, assist it in overcoming the effects of the disease, and insure a speedy restoration to perfect health.

We have a Home Treatment book, describing the different stages and symptoms of Contagious Blood Poison, and containing many suggestions that will be helpful to you in curing yourself with S. S. S. We will send this book and any medical advice desired to all who write; no charge for either. S. S. S. is for sale at all drug stores.

THE SWIFT SPECIFIC CO., ATLANTA, GA.

The only lady in the world to receive the title, "Dean of Deans," is Miss Laura C. Cornell. She has distinguished herself in the executive and educational work of Temple university in Philadelphia. This university has an unusual history. In 1881 Rev. H. Russell Cornell took the pastorate of the Temple church on Broad street. In connection with his pastoral duties he lectured on educational subjects with extraordinary success. The result was the establishment of regular lecture courses, which developed into the foundation of Temple college in 1888, with Dr. Cornell as its president.

The work of Temple college was so arranged as to give wide opportunities to men and women who desired a share of the higher education, but who for the time were also engaged in other pursuits. It grew rapidly. It has now many departments, and more than three thousand students. Later its name was changed to Temple university, and Miss Cornell was made the chief of its deans with the title already mentioned, "Dean of Deans."

ONLY ONE WAY TO RETAIN HEALTH

Young Man with New Theory Says All Depends on Stomach.

I. T. Cooper's theory regarding the human stomach is rapidly becoming a topic of universal discussion. Cooper claims that the human stomach has become chronically diseased by modern conditions, and that sickness generally is the result.

In a recent interview, while introducing his medicine in a leading city, Mr. Cooper said: "There is just one way, in my opinion, to maintain general health, and that is by building up the digestive organs. The vast majority of Americans today have weak, flabby, distended stomachs. This has been caused by many generations of over-eating and lack of exercise, until today the entire civilized race is affected. This is the true cause of most of the ill health of today. Little can be done to relieve it until the stomach is once more brought back to normal conditions."

I am successful because my preparation puts the stomach in sound condition, and as I maintain this is the

THE CAPTAIN OF the KANSAS

By LOUIS TRACY.

Author of "The Winds of the Morning," "The Pill of Light," Etc.

COPYRIGHT, 1903, BY EDWARD J. CLODS

The bloodless glasses were not strong enough, so he walked back toward the chart house to procure a telescope. Catching Joey under his left arm, he climbed the short ladder leading to the spar deck and pulled it up after him, the bolts having been already removed to permit of that being done. Walker was screwing tight the door of the engine room in order to safeguard the fireman in attendance on the donkey boiler. Now that the screw-driving was actually in operation it very unpleasantly reminded Courtney of the fastening of a coffin lid. Neither Walker nor the man inside could guess the ghoulish notion which held the captain in his chilly grip for an instant. Indeed, the engineer looked up with a grin.

"I suppose it's true, sir, the new's goin' to be a fight?" he asked.

"There's a fair chance of one, Walker."

Walker winked suggestively. "That chap inside thinks he's out of it," he said, "so that's all right." An energetic turn of the screwdriver signified that the men from Newcastle held the opposite view. Such as he loved his engines, he preferred to be on deck when the front came.

It happened that during this slight delay Courtney glanced at the northern headland, which Elsie had christened Cape Temporal owing to the somewhat remarkable profile of a knight in armor offered by its seaward crags. Possibly had he gone straight to the chart house he might not have noticed a signal fire which was in full blast on the summit of the cliff. It had not been many minutes in existence, and it struck him at once that it was a vehicle of communication between the savages in the approaching canoes and others, yet invisible, who were expected to share in the attack.

He was quick to perceive how seriously this new peril affected his calculations. By the time the nine canoes he had counted were alongside the ship there might be dozens of others ready to help them. He leaned over the rail. "Did you treat those flexible pipes this morning?" he inquired.

"Yes, sir, they are in fine condition," said Walker.

"Try them again, will you? I want to make sure. Our lives may depend on their very soon."

He saw Suarez watching the oncoming canoes. By a touch on the shoulder he called the man's attention to the smoke signal on Cape Temporal. A voluble and perforce explanation in Spanish was useless. Here arose the unforeseen need of an interpreter. Without troubling to analyze his feelings Courtney was glad of the excuse which presented itself of obtaining a momentary glimpse of Elsie.

"Bring the scowling," he said, and Elsie, wondering why she had been summoned from the salon, ran up the bridge companion. Her face was aglow with excitement, her heart going plump. She hoped that Courtney meant to keep her near him during the fight. She almost doubted Christobal's statement that the captain had given specific orders that she was to remain in the salon. It was one thing that she should wish to avoid him, but why should he wish to avoid her?

The joy in her eyes died away when she found that the captain merely required a translator. The restraint she such a hurry rather alarmed you. Suarez strikes me as a person of nerves. He overrates the enemy, Miss Maxwell. I think you know me well enough to believe that I would not mislead you, and I am quite in earnest when I tell you that we shall drive off these unfortunate wretches with comparative ease. Why, I had it in my heart to pity them a moment ago."

She was glad he misunderstood the cause of her agitation.

"Suarez is certainly rather dramatic," she said, smiling whitely. "I ought to have discounted his Spanish mode of address. But is it really necessary that I should remain below?"

"It is. If shots are fired or stones slung at us, the chart house will probably be hit. Ah, yes, I am sure you would risk that and more, but we may sustain casualties, and Christobal ought to have help. You see, I am asking you to act the braver part."

He caught her hand and looked into her eyes. There are so many messages that can be given in that silent language. For a blissful moment Elsie forgot the other woman. Not until she had left the bridge did she realize that Courtney, too, must have been equally forgetful. And that was very distressing both for her and the unknown.

But here she was face to face with him and in such close proximity that she was unconsciously blind. While her heart leaped in tumult, she forced her lips to answer:

"You are right. You are always right. I was selfish in thinking that—that I—"

There was a pitiful quivering in the corners of her mouth. Courtney felt her hand tremble.

"Be a brave girl, Elsie," he murmured. "You must go now. Have no fear. We are in God's care. May his angels watch over you."

"But you—you will not risk your life? What shall we do if anything happens to you?"

She was strung to that tense pitch when unguarded speech bubbles forth the soul's secrets. All she knew was that Courtney was looking at her as a man looks at the woman he loves. Neither of them paid heed to the presence of Suarez. For an instant they had a glimpse of heaven, but the curiously harsh voice of the Spanish officer fell on their ears, and they came back to earth with a sudden drop.

"The Feathered People are singing their war chant," he said, and his gesture seemed to ask them to listen. They started apart, and it was not Elsie alone who blushed. Courtney crimsoned beneath the tan on his face and pretended a mighty interest in the doings of the savages. The girl recovered her self control more rapidly. She half whispered the meaning of the officer's cry, whereon Courtney tried to laugh.

"They will be singing a dirge next," said he, with a jaunty confidence. "Now, Elsie, off with you! Be sure I shall come and tell you when you may appear on deck."

She hurried away. She reeked of the Alacof challenge.

Though the cautious notes of the timorous lay could be heard plainly enough, they did not reach her ears. When she raced down the salon companion she found Christobal bending over the small case of instruments he always carried. He straightened himself in his peculiarly stiff way.

"What did the captain want?" he asked, with a suspicious peevishness which for once detracted from his habitual courtesy. The note of distrust jarred Elsie back into her senses. "He wished me to translate Senator Suarez's explanation of another smoke signal," she answered.

"He told you himself, I suppose, that he wished you to stay here."

"He did more. He drove me away."

"Against your will?"

"No. Am I not one of the ship's company? Is he not the captain? He says to this woman, 'Go,' and she goes, nor does she stand upon the order of her going. Oh, please don't look at me as if I were cracked! Surely one may mingle the Bible and Shakespeare in an emergency."

"One may also tear linen sheets into strips," said Christobal gravely. Elsie's lips had saved the situation. He attributed her flushed cheeks and sparkling eyes to the fever of the threatening fight. She applied herself eagerly to the task. Already the fame and agony of vain regret were striving to conquer the ecstasy which had flooded her whole being.

Courtney meanwhile was examining the advancing flotilla. His brain was coming each detail of the Alacof array, but his heart was whispering gladly:

"In another moment you would have kissed her and told her you loved her. You know you would, so don't deny it. Ah, kissed her and held her to your breast!"

So Suarez spoiled a pretty bit of romance by his rattling agitation over some bawl of savage frenzy, for Courtney of course would have laughed away the girl's protests that she was usurping another woman's place.

If the confident demeanor of the paddling warriors in the canoes was destined to be justified, the Kansas was in a perilous state. Her vast bulk and sheer walls of steel did not daunt them. They came on steadily against the rapid current and spread out into a crescent when within a few hundred yards of the ship. Then three men, crouching in the bows of different canoes, produced rifles hitherto invisible and began to shoot. The bullets ricocheted across the ripples, and Courtney saw that the savages did not understand the sighting appliances. They were aiming point blank at the vessel in so far as they could be said to aim at anything, and the low trajectory caused the first straight shot to rebound from the surface of the water and strike a plate amidships. The loud clang of the metal was hailed by the Alacofs with shouts of delight.

The long range firing was kept up for several minutes, much to Courtney's relief, as Suarez was certain that the Indians' stock of cartridges did not amount to more than 400 at the utmost. The canoes crept gradually nearer, and bullets began to strike the ship frequently. One glanced off a davit and shattered a couple of windows in the chart house. This incident aroused even greater enthusiasm than the first blow of the attack. There was renewed activity among the paddlers. Two canoes were not fifty yards from the most southerly floating mine. Courtney commenced to haul in the slack of one among the half dozen thin cords. He turned to tell Suarez to be ready for the duty which had been entrusted to him when his glance happened to travel toward the mouth of the bay.

Then he learned the significance of that column of smoke on the northern point. A fleet of at least forty canoes was advancing on the ship from the sea. Tide and paddles were swinging the small craft along at a spanking pace. They were already much nearer the vessel than the first batch of Indians, who had very cleverly contrived to enlist the attention of the defenders while the real attack was developing without let or hindrance. It was a smart race worthy of a race of higher attainments than the tribe which he ranked lowest in the human scale. The newcomers abstained from bringing for stone slinging. They were gathering with the speed and silence of vultures.

Two mines protected the front of the Kansas, and several canoes had passed them. Indeed, Courtney soon found that some of the assailants were already screened by the ship's bows, but the larger number were clustered thickly round Tollenmacher's infernal uncles. It was well that a cool-headed sailor was called on to deal with this emergency. The captain of the Kansas even smiled as he appreciated the full meaning of the trick which his adversaries had tried to play on him, and the man who smiles in the face of danger is one to be depended on.

The six cords were numbered. He dropped No. 2, which he was holding, and seized Nos. 4 and 5. He drew them in, hand over hand, as rapidly as possible, but was careful not to sacrifice a smooth tension to undue hurry. In a few seconds two deafening reports split the air, the glass front of the chart house shook, pieces of the broken panes rattled on the floor, several scraps of iron, bolts, nuts and heavy nails fell off the decks and hatchways, and a tremendous hubbub of yells came from the main body of Indians. A couple of heavily charged dynamite bombs had burst in their midst, dealing death and destruction over a wide area. Several canoes near the floating platform were torn hammer and sink, while men were killed or wounded out of all proportion to the number of craft disabled.

Courtney at once picked up the governing cord of the mine which he was about to fire in the first instance. He felt that the Alacof flotilla would act in future on the "once bitten twice shy" principle where those innocent-looking little poles showed above sea level, and he must strike fierce blows while the opportunity served. The nine canoes on the south were not clustered around the bomb in the same manner as the others, but they were near enough to sustain heavy loss, and their frightened crews had ceased to ply their paddles, so he fired that shell also and had the satisfaction of seeing two more of the frail craft capsized.

DAY OF ORATORY IN HOUSE

MANY SPEECHES ON VARIOUS TOPICS ARE HEARD.

President's Message is Read, Both Sides Applauding Rap at Foreign Marriages of American Girls.

Washington, Apr. 23.—Ostensibly considering the sundry civil appropriation bill, the house devoted most of its time Tuesday to speeches covering a wide range of subjects and concluded the session by giving an attentive hearing to the president's special message.

Although nearly every member had read the message in the newspapers, a large number remained in their seats carefully following the words of the reading clerk. When the portion of the message referring to the multimillionaire "whose son is a fool and his daughter a foreign princess" was reached, there was a storm of applause equally prominent on both sides of the house.

Mr. Louke of New Jersey made some caustic remarks on the president, evoking applause on the Democratic side.

Sumptuary laws, and especially the shutting out from army posts of the cautions, were the subjects of remarks by Mr. Goebel of Ohio.

Predicting that "Roosevelt policies" would prevail at the next national Republican convention, Mr. Madison of Kansas paid a glowing tribute to the president, declaring that his forestry achievements alone had realized "the dream of the age."

The great advantage the country would reap from the manufacture of all of its cotton, instead of sending two-thirds of that product abroad, was the subject of a stirring speech by Mr. Byrd of Mississippi. By abandoning protective tariff principles Mr. Byrd believed that result would be achieved.

The pension and the District of Columbia appropriation bills were passed by the senate. In addition, the special message of the president was read and another chapter of Senator Warner's speech on the Brownsville affair was heard. Several measures of minor importance, and the resolution of the house to give government aid to cyclone sufferers in the south were passed.

CASHIER AND MONEY GONE.

T. W. Frankham of St. Paul Accused of Embezzling $10,000.

St. Paul, Minn., Apr. 23.—Thomas W. Frankham, cashier of the St. Paul and Western Coal company, has been missing for a week. It was announced Tuesday he has had unrestricted control of about $60,000 worth of coal, owing to the confidence reposed in him by reason of 17 years of faithful service, and that his transactions were never checked up.

County Attorney O'Brien said that a complaint had been filed with him on which a warrant had been issued for the arrest of Frankham, charging him with embezzlement of $10,000. It is said that when the books of the company are checked up the shortage may be as high as $10,000, or $15,000.

One Minute Washer....

You'd be surprised how hard it is to stop the machine when once this wheel gets up speed. Two strokes of the handle are usually sufficient to get under headway, then the flywheel does half the work.

THE THREE ESSENTIALS
Clean Washing—

The "One Minute" Washer washes cleaner than other machines on account of twice the agitation of clothes being secured through any given movement of the operating handle. Each forward and backward movement of the handle causes a like motion of the clothes agitator, forcing the clothes to the outside of the tub and against the corrugations. By reason of this high speed agitation of clothes, cleansing currents of hot, soapy water are forced through and through every fabric, removing all dirt in less time and without wear on the garments. This principle, also, creates more suds, thus meaning a saving in soap.

Easy of Operation—

The "One Minute" Washer we claim, without dispute, to be the easiest running machine on the American market. The principle of employing reciprocating motion through compound operating levers develops three times the power of rotary motion, thus accomplishing the desired result with one-third the labor. Furthermore, the ball-bearing fly-wheel attachment under tub relieves the monotony of jerks and speed variations so common and tiresome in other makes.

Timely Work—

The "One Minute" Washer in operation is in keeping with the full sense the name implies. It runs easier than others and has a higher speed agitation of clothes, therefore, must do the work in less time, all things being equal. It saves time, labor and soap. One trial is sufficient to demonstrate the truthfulness of all claims made.
